

OGRE

Ogres are the quintessential thugs—rustic, slovenly, vicious, greedy morons who are unskilled to say the least, yet strong enough to pose a threat. These ugly, tall, burly grey-, yellow- or pink-skinned humanoids have mouths lined with fangs, including two especially long fangs on both the upper and lower jaws. Ogres are cyclopes, with one big eye above the nose. Each male has up to nine twisted horns jutting from its bald head (or none), but females have no horns, yet have thick, coarse hair. They can be found in every climate, from cold to warm, and every terrain, from coasts to mountains—but prefer hills and woodlands, so they can more easily hide their cave-lairs, where they dwell in small clans (6–15 individuals) or gather into larger tribes. Ogres are omnivores and can eat nearly anything, but particularly enjoy mortal flesh. They lurk near mortal civilizations or roads, so they can quickly find people upon whom to prey or with whom to bargain, for they will hire themselves out as mercenaries, and some will trade for items they cannot make for themselves. Despite being pathetic artisans who can only make crude gear, or decent armaments at best, they are still excellent survivalists.

- Crusher ogres wear poor armor, bear poor shields and carry poor weapons that are the same size category as equivalent mortal weapons, wielding them as effectively as mortal assaulters (-2 d-steps)—featured specimen: pad armor, no shield, single great melee weapon, single light ranged (missile) weapon.
- Jinixer ogres wear poor armor, bear inferior shields and carry poor weapons that are one size category above equivalent mortal weapons, wielding them as effectively as mortal druids (-1 d-step)—featured specimen: pad armor, light shield, single heavy melee weapon.
- Battler ogres wear poor armor, bear poor shields and carry poor weapons that are two size categories above equivalent mortal weapons, wielding them as effectively as mortal assaulters (± 0 d-steps); they also increase thrown versatile and ranged (missile) weapon ranges (base short +5 squares)—featured specimen: leather armor, no shield, single great melee weapon, single light ranged (missile) weapon.
- Curser ogres wear poor armor, bear inferior shields and carry inferior weapons that are two size categories above equivalent mortal weapons, wielding them as effectively as mortal druids (+1 d-step); they also increase thrown versatile and ranged (missile) weapon ranges (base short +5 squares)—featured specimen: leather armor, light shield, single heavy melee weapon.
- Leader ogres wear inferior armor, bear inferior shields and carry inferior weapons that are three size categories above equivalent mortal weapons, wielding them as effectively as mortal assaulters (+2 d-steps); they also increase thrown versatile and ranged (missile) weapon ranges (base short +10 squares)—featured specimen: stud armor, no shield, single great melee weapon, single medium versatile weapon.
- Hexer ogres wear inferior armor, bear inferior shields and carry common weapons that are three size categories above equivalent mortal weapons, wielding them as effectively as mortal druids (+3 d-steps); they also increase thrown versatile and ranged (missile) weapon ranges (base short +10 squares)—featured specimen: stud armor, medium shield, single heavy melee weapon.
- Ruler ogres wear common armor, bear inferior shields and carry common weapons that are four size categories above equivalent mortal weapons, wielding them as effectively as mortal assaulters (+4 d-steps); they also increase thrown versatile and ranged (missile) weapon ranges (base short +15 squares)—featured specimen: ring armor, no shield, single great melee weapon, single heavy versatile weapon.
